Elvis Presley, Because Of Love

Because of love, I'm a hundred feet tall I can bounce this world like a little old ball The heaven and earth are now all mine I've jumped to the moon from cloud number nine Because, because, because of love Because of love, I'm a mighty big man I hold the sun in the palm of my hand Just one leap I can cross the seas Jump over mountains and fly over trees Because, because, because of love Well I found love, I found love That's all that I can say Oh I'll never, never, I'll never, never Never let it get away Because of love, I'm the happiest guy And life is sweet as cherry cream pie Well heaven and earth are now all mine I've jumped to the moon from cloud number nine Because, because, because of love Because, because, because of love