

Ephyra, Journey

mud is clinging to my boots as the rain is washing away the night today i will not greet the dawn i will not say goodbye to the moon

thousand ways i will cross
nothing left behind
memories sent to fire

thousand ways i will cross
nothing left behind
no gods care of me

"never stop" is the order
the horizon will be risen only dreams have no border
even death is not forever

how many are the ways?
will be hope for the weak ones?
what's the source of our days?
answer lies in the journey

go!
as the wind blows strong!
as the cold steel hurts!
even more than the flows of time!

one way in front of me
thousands left behind memories carved with fire

one way in front of me
thousand left behind
there's no god to pray

see the routes in the stars once again i choose mine days go by leaving scars lives flow on me as dew i'll walk 'til my legs will kneel i'll fight 'til my hands collapse i'll love 'til my veins are empty i'll hate 'til my heart explodes

"never stop" is the order
the horizon will be risen
only dreams have no border
even death is not forever

how many are the ways?
will be hope for the weak ones?
what's the source of our days?
answer lies in the journey

go!
as the wind blows strong!
as the cold steel hurts!
even more than the flows of time!