

Eternal of Sweden, Ruins

Darkness falling, can't let you know all the secrets
Watch me, heaven will split by my hand
Mother Nature, raging with fury upon us
Thunder and lightning is coming our way

Seasons changing every hour
Though our teardrops fallin'
Now it's time to act
Before we'll burn

What have we done
When our children's crying for some freedom
Begging, just to wake up again

Where will we go
When everything is blown to pieces
Nowhere, ruins is all I see

Moonlight shining
Feeding the flames that will burn you
Voices, keep calling out their names

Mental monsters
No one can tell when they meet you
Laughing, touched by eternal flame

Seasons changing every hour
Though our teardrops fallin'
Now it's time to act
Before we'll burn

What have we done
When our children's crying for some freedom
Begging, just to wake up again

Where will we go
When everything is blown to pieces
Nowhere, ruins is all I see