Everman, Not Alone

Restless spirit, come Bringing all the burdens you carry You are not alone You are not alone

Brokenhearted, come Bowed beneath the grief you are bearing You are not alone You are not alone

All of your anger, fear and shame
All of your heartache and your pain
All of these ugly crimson stains that cover you
This is a debt that I have paid
And I am still whispering your name
Longing to wipe your tears away and comfort you

Lonely searcher, come Turn your eyes toward all you are seeking You are not alone You are not alone

Weak and weary, come Reaching out in need of healing You are not alone You are not alone

Desperate dreamer, come Wandering lost and disillusioned You are not alone You are not alone