Everything Everything, Violent Sun

... and you realise you don't know how long That the river has been sweeping you along Past the dreams and the colour and the moment