

Exlibris, All Guts, No Glory

Every day might seem like the last
But every night's a different story
Yesterday's memories fading so fast
In the mists of the morning

It's not how hard we hit the floor
It's that we're always back for more
That separates us from the lost

We're kings without crowns
You can never bring us down
Forever side by side
Hide your daughters, hide your wives
We're the noise that never dies
The ones that hell denied

No time for weakness, no time to stop
Faithful and proud we stand before you
Unholy union was built to last
Through the haze of misfortune

This is nowhere near the end
We won't break, we'll never bend
Until the devil knows our name

We're kings without crowns
You can never bring us down
Forever side by side
Hide your daughters, hide your wives
We're the noise that never dies
The ones that hell denied

We're kings without crowns
You can never bring us down
Forever side by side
Hide your daughters, hide your wives
We're the noise that never dies
The ones that hell denied
