

Familiar 48, Leaving

Seems a little bit odd when you think how you're talking about the way he used to Certain things that you did when you were with him but now with me or are you
Looking for a purpose in the time you spend with me, we argue
I don't wanna be the man that you used to have but in a brand new form
So many times I let this go
But I won't let you do this
You tried to turn me in to him
I will not stand for this again
I've held my thoughts inside my head
But now I'm leaving
I was hoping maybe this would change but I guess it's just the way you are Even if you understood I feel like everything would carry on
See the little thing you're looking for is not in me and you won't find it
He's the one you really want, it isn't me you know you can't deny it
But I won't let you do this
You tried to turn me in to him
I will not stand for this again
I've held my thoughts inside my head
But now I'm leaving (2x)
Seem to think you got it right this time
This is never gonna be alright
I don't think you understand that I will never be the man that you need
Wanted me to be the only one
Couldn't live up to the chosen one
Sick of all the little games you play and now I think it's time that I leave.
So many times I let this go, but I won't let you do this Repeat chorus
