Feel, Under The Radar

Through the dark I search again
For a universal refrain
Lost and lonely sea crashing waves
Strumming through my revolving days
And if I don't
Have it all worked out
By five o'clock
I'll just do without it for now

CHORUS
Under the radar
Under the spotlight
Under the underground

Inside the headlights

On a stream of conciousness
All my meaning slips again
And I don't know how to begin
Or if anyone would understand
That if I don't
Have it all worked out
By five o'clock
I'll just do without it for now

CHORUS

But if I find something between the blinds And she says something great Then I just might steal something from the air Put it down and sleep so sound Put it down and sleep so sound

Lost and lonely sea crashing waves Strumming through my revolving days