

Figure Four, Thieves Don't Knock

Where have we gone? What have we created ourselves. Indecision plagues our mind. Indecision

Lost and cold. A generation lost and cold. Indecision. This is our world.

I know I'll see the day. The hour is in question. I wait for it to come, and there will be no question.