

FINNEAS, Partners in Crime

i said you look pretty all strung out on coke
you said it's not funny but ut wasn't a joke and you won't remember but I carried you home you sat in the shower whi;e I washed off your clothes but isn't that what friends are for even if we used to be more? like lovers or parents in crime and you were still mine you said we should get out while we still could and I should have listened but I misunderstood thought you wanted me together started to chafe

but it's easy to see now
