Fly To The Sky, Illusion

That feeling of your fragrance that is left inside me

It passes in my nose to my heart

I have now begun to see you in front of my eyes

I touch you who can't be grabbed

My love doesn't know how to end yet

It won't come out from the inside

Even though I try to forget you like that, my heart still

Even though I try to step on it, I'm going to stand by your side for some time

You keep appearing in my dreams, you who had loved me

Through my expression I can stay by your side

If my surrounding illusion at that place sticks out

Your lips, even your tears

You can feel it by touching my hand

When you see me again, it looks like you are whimpering

Even though I try to hate you, my heart still

Even though I try to step on it, I'm going to stand by your side for some time

You keep appearing in my dreams, you who had loved me

Through my expression I can love you in an illusion

When you open your eyes again, I'm the same like that

Even though it seems like you're not by my side

My everything I hug you like this in my chest Even though I try to hate you, my heart still

Even though I try to step on it, I'm going to stand by your side for some time

You keep appearing in my dreams, you who had loved me

Through my expression I can love you in an illusion