Fool's Garden, The Seal

(Hinkel / Freudenthaler)

You said it in a strange kind, I don't forget the day Your smile is not the same now, you've drawn your hands away I don't begrudge it to you You've found another place Another place is good too but I can't look inside your face Inside your face ?now you get away

And now we shunt our train on to a siding I see you wave your hand and disappear You said come on and fly with me, fly and then we'll dive into an endless sea And now you fly again, I couldn't fly like you And now I'm losing you

Pathos ?how the eyes gape I've got blood in my hands Thoughts about the promises and all the tears that we have shed Don't you let them use you, be cautious when you dive into the world around you You've broken all the ties All the ties ?now you get away

And now we shunt our train on to a siding I see you wave your hand and disappear You said come on and fly with me, fly and then we'll dive into an endless sea And now you fly again, I couldn't fly like you And now I'm losing you
