

Gabriel Bruce, Cars Not Leaving

There's a beam that's always played
And always won by fools
But everyone I know
Would rather never play the fools

There's a place where the innocence stand
Proud before the fire is ...
There's a church at the end of the path
With the sound of word of the God

And there's you in the alley
And there's me walking away
The thre words that in the end
I swore I would never say

So hold on now, just hold on you
The sky is not evil if you're not here
No idea of how lucky we are
The room that we have in the sky
/2x

Other was a place where alive
Manage to cut through the dark
But that was just a story for children
And might just as just great from my heart

There's a phone that's always ringing
Answer and a child to say
I'd rather take my own life
Than get it away

And there's you under the west way
The thoughts I have in the way
And I'm taking your bedroom
To be sure that I'll see you again

So hold on now, just hold on you
The sky is not evil if you're not here
No idea of how lucky we are
The room that we have in the sky
/2x

Well I see will always be holding hairs
Her boats in harmony
The bath is of water ... land
And the river is ...

So hold on now, just hold on you
The sky is not evil if you're not here
No idea of how lucky we are
The room that we have in the sky
