

Gareth Gates, Lovesong

I would take the ocean in an orange crate
And I'd do it in one day too.
I can build a railway track,
Just to take us back to the places we once knew.
Coz I'm sure you'd like that.

I would be a criminal to steal the Mona Lisa
And I wouldn't leave a clue.
Then I'd climb the Eiffel Tower,
Maybe higher, could swim the deepest sea.
And it wouldn't bother me.

There's only one thing,
Only one thing in this world I cannot do
I can't bear to miss you.

I would start a corporation,

That could lead the Nation,
And build the world all new.
There would be a sign up there
And it would declare,
There's nothing we can not do
Except miss the one you love.

This feeling is upon me now,
It's like a sting somehow.

There's only one thing,
Only one thing in this world I cannot do
I can't bear to miss you.

There's only one thing,
Only one thing in this world I cannot do
I can't bear to miss you.
