Gazpacho, Snowman

The fog leaves a distant trauma You feel the ground roar When it all goes to hell

They say no freedom lies when they say You love too much So you pack your only suitcase And burn by her touch

Go Before I go I'll tell you all my secrets

They say its past the deadline They say they've lost control They let you see their nightmares Through eyes of coal

Guilt is your own anger You who did not win Dream a dream of somewhere As the rope is wearing thin

Go Before I go I'll tell you all my secrets

Its going to hurt to leave her Its going to hurt to leave her Its going to hurt

Its going to hurt to leave this Its going to hurt to leave this Its going to hurt