

Girl in red, Too Much

Don't you just love
To kill the light in my eyes?

To make me low when I'm high?
It's just a joke
You always say afterwards
Still my feelings get hurt

So please
Don't say I'm too much
That I'm over the top
You don't understand me
We're so different at heart
You're on Earth I'm on Mars

All I ever wanted was your love
I toned myself down for you
Volume down almost mute
I'll never ignite
You always found a way to bring me down
You trivialized everything
From my tears to my grins

It's like you're scared of anything real
For a second I thought you were sincere
But you've been dragging me down all of these years
With your coldness and I don't care

So please
Don't say I'm too much
That I'm over the top
You don't understand me
We're so different at heart
You're on Earth I'm on Mars

You go through life like you're on a fucking runway
Dracula shoulders be blocking all my sun rays
This throwing shade is so passé
Forever is unlikely for us

Opposites attract
Odds are more like black jack
House always wins, so I'm taking all my love back
With you I lose either way

You think I'm weird when I get too excited
I think it's weird how you're so empty minded
Yea you've been dragging me down all of these years
With your coolness and I don't care

So please
Don't say I'm too much
That I'm over the top
You don't understand me
We're so different at heart
You're on Earth I'm on Mars
But I still keep trying.
