

Good Riddance, Token Idiot

what should i say i guess things didn't go my way but you insist on shining light on my greatest failures fallible is me

but you can see
this isn't my reality
it's just the way
things go for us

someone out there saying life just isn't fair but it's the simple disappointments and the great mistakes that make you wiser
but you can see
this isn't my reality
it's just the way
things go for us

and what about the times you set me straight still left me waiting at the gate it's just the way things go for us for us

i'm sick of trying at your way did you really think i'd make it anyway i pulled this splinter from my face found another worthwhile cause to take your place i woke up ok
it's just another rainy day and i'm feeling the same way as you