

Grave Digger, Thousand Tears

Thousand tears running down my skin
If I see you bear the cross of our human sins
Season come and go but my hope still stays
I believe you will return to the throne one day

Your screams sound far across the land
Let me take you by your hand

Thousand tears makes me cry
Your light shines like a star in the sky
Now you're gone between dark and dawn
Your legend will live forevermore
Your legend will live forevermore

My tears flow like a river of blood
Down in the valley my soul is covered with mud
In my last hours I hear voices calling my name
My death won't be in vain, I die for Scotland's fame

My day has come, I carry out my fate
In my heart there's no more hate

Thousand tears makes me cry
Your light shines like a star in the sky
Now you're gone between dark and dawn
Your legend will live forevermore
Your legend will live forevermore

Thousand tears makes me cry
Your light shines like a star in the sky
Now you're gone between dark and dawn
Your legend will live forevermore
Your legend will live forevermore
