Green Day, At The Library

Hey there lookin' at me
Tell me what do you see
But you quickly turn your head away
Try to find the words I could use
Don't have the courage to come up to you
My chance is looking a bit grey

Starting across the room Are you leaving soon? I just need a little time

What is it that drives me mad Girls like you that I never had What is it about you that I adore? What makes me feel so much pain? That makes me go so insane What is it about you that I adore?

Starting across the room Are you leaving soon? I just need a little time

Why did you have to leave so soon? Why did you have to walk away? Oh well it happened again She walked away with her boyfriend Maybe we'll meet again someday.
