

HAIM, I Know Alone

been a couple days since I've been out calling all my friends but they won't pick up found another room in a different place sleeping through the day and I dream the same

I don't wanna give too much
I don't wanna feel at all cause nights turn into days that turn to grey

keep turning over
some things never grow
I know alone like n o one else does

some things never change that never fade
its never over
some things never grow
I know alone like n o one else does

been a couple days since I've been around woke up at the wheel on the edge of town it all looked the same every mile screaming every word od "both sdes now"

I don't wanna give too much
I don't wanna feel at all

cause nights turn into days
that turn to grey
keep turning over
some things never grow
I know alone like n o one else does

some things never change
that never fade
its never over
some things never grow
I know alone like n o one else does