

Hammerfall, Fallen One

I saw your face in the morning sun
oh, I thought you were there I heard your voice as the wind passed me by silently, whispering my name
So many things that I wanted to say forever left untold I still remember the tears that you shed over someone else
Our love could never die
all I can do is cry
save a little prayer for the fallen one There is a light down at memory lane slowly fading away
Still holding on to the dreams torn apart
I will follow my heart
Our love could never die
all I can do is cry
save a little prayer for the fallen one Still on my own, chasing the sun of a time long ago
The shade in my heart, tearing apart everything that I long for
I saw your face in the morning sun
I heard your voice as the wind passed me by whispering my name
Our love could never die
all I can do is cry
save a little prayer for the fallen one
