

Hank Thompson, I Find You Cheatin' On Me

I find you cheatin' on me like you have done before
There ain't no greetin' for me when I walk through the door
I find you cheatin' on me but then I'm not surprised
All the things you told me were little white lies

A secret love you're hiding behind the heart that beats for him
While you're kind with me you're fighting you got me way out on a limb
I find you cheatin' on me but this is the end
We'll be lovers no more we'll just be friends
[steel - fiddle]
I find you cheatin' on me but then it's nothing new
Your heart ain't beatin' for me countless times I've been blue
I find you cheatin' on me just when my back is turned
That little flame of love for me don't burn

The love now you have twisted and choked my heart with pain
My love is unassisted because you cheated once again
I find you cheatin' on me but this is the end
We'll be lovers no more we'll just be friends
