

Hans Theessink, Titanic

That night it all started when the ship began to shake We were filled with amazement, a little shock