

Harmful, Deliverance

At least you know how to be impressed by yourself? you're everything but it's all right
So show me the way? I count all the days? this lie will sting your eyes
Nonsense prevails Modesty fails I will just go on with the same old song
But if you hurt me once again I'll try to control my deliverance
No consequence, for my defence You rise above by acting tough
But if you betray me it's all the same? we'll find a way to break the walls again
I wish I could change my plans and ignore your demands? it's not that fair but it's all right
I'll show you the way You'll count all the days A kind of a big surprise
Wake up zombie Another funny day Can't bring myself to look So write another book
But if you lose me once again? there won't be a chance? for your deliverance
I'm gonna need some time to wash away your fears... I'm gonna need some time to wash away you