

Hey, As Raindrops Fell

once I was swept away by a glance came to some pearly gates holy land (and all) could of earned some grace if cared but of that bread i've tasted my share (it burns) mine was the life of a snug embryo yet my dreams blazed with fire blood and pain (it'so) and realized it was death i saw it all just staring helpless as raindrops fell
i lost an eye contemplating the past there'll be no statute to honor those days (the last) i was snubbing life its word just savorig the greenest of grass (absurd)
as raindrops fell