Hey, I Don't Know

i don't know many things physics math and chemistry i don't know many tricks how to kill and not to speak i don't know if i could even find my way home i don't care for attitudes all i know happiness ain't here i will soon bear you my soul my life's out of my mind control now it's time to say all i don't want you anymore life is no stranger to you and i maybe it's good for your sense of suprise take it like a gift and try to break down maybe these are windows into our lives i don't know many things phisics math and chemistry i don't know many tricks how to love without pain life is no stranger...