Hooverphonic, Billie

Billie tries too hard But too can be beautiful The much gets too much Then too much means the end

Her love goes too strong But too can be beautiful The strong gets too weak Then too weak means the end

Still too much love, love Love to give up now Love to give up now

The night gets too hard But too can be beautiful When hard gets too hard Then too hard means the end

A tear stays too soft But too can be beautiful When salt gets too salt Then too salt means the end

Still too much love, love Love to give up now To give up now To give up now