

House Of Heroes, Journey Into Space

Baby, Baby, You cannot protect me, but I've heard of one who can.
And he does not take sides tonight and...
Baby, Baby, if this is the ending,
Then we'll find out how it ends...
We'll find where we begin again.

I can't tell you it will be alright.
Hold me through the shelling of the night.

Let them come for us.
Let them have their way with our names they drag through the mud.
Should they murder us,
we will live again in the clouds that cover the sun.

Baby, baby, if there is eternity,
then it must be made of love.
How else could I hope in all this?
And baby, baby, tonight I have no entity,
I have held my fellow man,
looked into his dying eyes.

And I just want to look into the light.
Hold me through the shelling of the night.

Whoa, I'm on your side.
Whoa, I'm on your side.