Houston Calls, Sunrise Goodbyes

Amidst a smile like the setting sun
Red sequined dress that could kill anyone
The music moves you like good poetry
I wish I lacked this anonymity
It strikes me funny when you mouth the words to "Am I Wrong" a song I've only heard while sipping whiskey living out a lie a perfect portrait hosting you and I

[Chorus]

A made up romance, my soliloquy will read I know I'm lost again, my timing's off again because something lacks in your passing eyes It's lust and libido why give up this opportunity? Give it a go and maybe you will see so take a chance it'll be alright and that's all you've got to go on

You dance around my head throughout the day a want, a wish, a will to have my way and when I fumble over words you smile you'll kiss my cheek and say, "I like your style."

Dream a dream of our life story
I will tell it over and again
I'll tell the world just how you got that got that perfect smile I can't withstand
Let me kiss your index finger
I'll point out how you've made me crazy
I know I'd do it all the same way
I'd do it all the same

[Chorus]

Dream a dream of our life story
I will tell it over and again
I'll tell the world just how you got that
Let me kiss your index finger
I'll point out how you've made me crazy
I know I'd do it all the same way

[Chorus]

Why give up this opportunity? If I can't be near you then I'd rather be in hell forever I'll think of you so just give me chances to go on
