

I am Kloot, I Believe

I believe in the hallelujah chorus of the shopping malls we say we cant, we know we shant, well of course we shall Cause I've seen, I believe That we are forever something which is incomplete
we trade ourselves for nothings and words are our conceits
I have seen, now I believe That the ceaseless, seamless strain of your heart
One day you'll cause itself to make a start with me, we believe! Never thought I'd string along I never thought we'd last this long But we've seen, so we believe in the hallelujah chorus of the shopping malls we say we've seen, now we believe! Never thought I'd string along
I never thought we'd last this long
I have seen, I Believe
That we are forever something which is incomplete
we trade ourselves for nothings and words are our conceits
I have seen, I believe