

Idina Menzel, Better To Have Loved

Better to have loved. ohhhhh. Better to have loved oooooooooh.

If the sun went down tomorrow and never came back and the city went quiet and we fade to black.

well i won't have a single regret and i wouldn't trade a thing.

'Cause I never knew I could feel what I feel inside of me

Better to have loved than never loved at all
Better to have dreamed than never taken the fall
Better to have held you and let you in
Than never to have touched your skin
Better to have hurt and screamed and cried
Fallen to the Earth for a trip to the sky
Better to have loved...you

I knew all the time I was taking a chance
When I stand there at the edge of a cliff and No one was holding my hand Well the wind blew strong and The clouds rolled in and I felt us lift off the ground
Yes I beared my soul and I dared to go knowing one day you might let me down oh

Better to have loved than never loved at all
Better to have dreamed than never taken the fall
Better to have held you and let you in
Than never to have touched your skin
Better to have hurt and screamed and cried
Fallen to the Earth for a trip to the sky
Better to have loved...you

I gave you everything but you have said goodbye
ohhh said goodbye

Better to have loved than never loved at all
Better to have dreamed than never taken the fall
Better to have held you and let you in
Than never to have touched your skin
Better to have hurt and screamed and cried
Fallen to the Earth for a trip to the sky
Better to have loved(better to have loved)
Better to have loved(better to have loved)
YOU

ooohhhhhh