

Ihsahn, Homecoming

I have tried so hard to regain my faith
in man
Yet, I fail again
to uphold this deception
His collective truths
are far too salt
I return instead
To the Heart and Self
and say;
"Unutterable and nameless is that which maketh my soul's pain and sweetness,
and which my bowels yearn upon"