

Jack Greene, If God Can Forgive You So Can I

I went to church this morning and heard you say a prayer
You didn't even notice that I was standing there
I heard you whisper softly dear God in heaven above
Forgive me please for hurting the one you know I love
If God can forgive you so can I you were not the only one to cry
When you went away dear I've thought that I would die
If God can forgive you so can I

And when the prayer was over I sat there quietly
The teardrops slowly falling I knew them suddenly
You had been forgiven I felt it in my heart
What God has joined together let no man tear apart
If God can forgive you...
