

Jackie Lomax, Listen To Me

I guess I was whispering in my sleep
And peace of mind these days is so hard to find

What do you see? What do you care?
Why do you stop? Why do you stare?
I am as lonely as you can be
Listen to me

Well you don't belong but you're going nowhere
And I done you wrong but I don't know where

What do you see? What do you care?
Why do you stop? Why do you stare?
I am as lonely as you can be
Listen to me

Where, where is the feeling?
You know it makes me sad
To think of things we had
It makes me feel so bad
Like I never had the blues before
Or do I just feel it more?

What do you see? What do you care?
Why do you stop? Why do you stare?
I am as lonely as you can be
Listen to me

I held you so close, you was touching my soul
And you felt so warm, then you turned to stone

What do you see? What do you care?
Why do you stop? Why do you stare?
I am as lonely as you can be
Listen to me
