

Jackie Lomax, Time Will Tell You

You ask me too many questions
I tell you too many lies
Use a little discretion
Time is a word to the wise

I say time will tell you
All you need to know
Time will tell you
All you need to know

You talk too much I get nervous
You talk too less I get shy
If good love should come to serve us
Who are we to ask why

I say time gonna tell you
All you need to know
Time will tell you
All you need to know

Now time gonna take its toll on you
It's no good doin' what you been told to do

I say time gonna tell you
All you need to know
Time gonna tell you
All you need to know

The time has come to be happy
Don't waste your time bein' sad
Now time can bring you everything
Spend a little time bein' glad

I say time will tell you
All you need to know
Time will tell you
All you need to know