James Blake, Say What You Will

I've been normal I've been ostracized I've watched through a window As my young self died

I've been popular with the popular guys I gave tchem punchlines
They gave me warning signs
I look ok in the magic hour