

Jeff Anderson, All We Have Is Now

Finally I see whats right in front of me, the chance to be free
From all the troubles that this life could bring if only we would sing
Ive been living for tomorrow so long I cant recall the feeling I had when I was with you
Living every single day as if its my last day.
I missed the reason why Im here.

Everything is meaningless except a life that is confident in you. That you would walk beside me in a
No more living for tomorrow. Todays the day that I will be the one to change the world.
Living every single day as if its my last day.
I know the reason I am here.

Finally I see whats right in front of me, the chance to be free
From all the troubles that this life could bring if only we could sing
No more living for tomorrow. Todays the day that I will be the one to change the world.
Living every single day as if its my last day.

I know the reason I am here.
No more living for tomorrow. Todays the day that I will be the one to change the world.
Living every single day as if its my last day.
I know the reason for today. Im living for today.