

Jo Davidson, Alone In My Room

music and lyrics by jo davidson

When times are the worst you see who you've got you know what is real and you find out what is not I thought I had something but now I hurt so bad You think you have things that you don't really have

Oh I'm a fragile tough girl break me if you can I'm a fragile tough girl Oh I'm a fragile tough girl steady as a tree and life is messy

when times are so harsh there's no room for lies the world is screaming and you're craving lullabies awake in the night asleep in the day everything's so raw and it's not ok where do you go when you're hurting inside who do you turn to and where do you hide to all things their season to all things their time I believe in the sun even when it doesn't shine.
