

Joey Cape, Violet

tonight the drugs are infected we are on a way as if they drop by to see me uninvited and I am a wallflower maybe a better father this is our job
the second time is dependence today maybe they call you describe every praise you pass through them all then he ask for your head, and I thought to burn your bed try to pretend, but this is your life somehow it feels right I'm calling this evolution I'm falling for institution one segnation unvaliable you tomorrow I survive the questions now is period with cold effervescence my world is true waiting by you here they come again I could never find the words so I discuss and inverse until it comes I've done me wrong the simplest song, if you sing along Where are you this time
Where are you this time
I'm gonna be the only well I'm painting a revolution
I'm falling for institution one call us unvaliable blue shine a comfort in a one convention but this are no injection this is an excuse ending by you tonight the drugs are infected, we are on a way