

John Cale, Maps Of The World

May I help you, sir?

Yes, I'd like to buy a map, please.

What kind of map?

As up-to-date as possible, I'm thinking of doing a bit of travelling and I need the latest world atlas.

I'm sorry but we may be in a bit of trouble there. All the maps are changing so rapidly it's difficult to

Yes, I sense a loss of azimuth here, a falling off the edge of the world as we know it, a scattering of

I'm leaving for home, leaving for home tonight. Gabon, Zaire, Congo, Rwanda. I'm leaving for home

The world changes partners to dance. Poor Libya, so misunderstood. The mighty Zambezi, the wind

I'm leaving for home, leaving for home tonight. Somalia, Equatorial Guinea, Cameroon, Togo. I'm le Tothigua, Sierra Leone, Senegal, Western Sahara.

The maidens of Morocco, Burkina Faso the riches of Liberia, a stranger symbolism, a sand-storm c

I'm leaving for home, leaving for home tonight. Estonia, Latvia, Kazakhstan, Nashville. Changed pa

Ankara, Ensena and Madrid, Twin Cities, Reno.

I'm leaving for home, leaving for home tonight. Inuit, Rome, Vancouver.

Changed partners again, changed partners just for the night. Afghanistan, Sardinia, Peru. Changed

Columbia, Argentina, France, Syria, Catalan, Oslo.