

John Newman, Gold Dust

Hear me now, it's my time to talk
I'm throwing out these two years of thoughts
Freeze and take a deep breath
I'll lay my heart out, helpless on the floor

Tears crash down, your face, not mine
Screaming out, how I've changed through time
I know it's hard to leave it
To say we've been defeated
But everything around me has changed
My, my
I'll be there

Gold dust
Gold dust
Gold dust

No more

Tear drops
Tear drops
Tear drops

Memories, without thought to nothing
Endlessly, through the night and through the day
They make our time seem easy
Dark days seem so pleasing
But everything around me has changed
My, my
I'll be there

Gold dust;
Gold dust
Gold dust

No more

Tear drops
Tear drops
Tear drops

And the times I've been down, darling
When I wake you're just gonna leave me
And I don't want you to be lonely
'Cause I know you've found your love again
And I know that time's not falling
And this makes it easy for you
I hate to see you leaving
When it's for the best, believe I'm there

Gold dust
Gold dust
Gold dust

No more

Tear drops (no more)
Tear drops (no more)
Tear drops (no more)