Jon Bon Jovi, When She Comes

Outside this world keeps turnin' 'round London Bridge keeps burnin' down but it'll be all right, oooh No one hears our silent screams In this land of broken dreams but it'll be all right, when she comes It'll be all right, when she comes It'll all be tight, when she comes And when I lie she still believes She don't ask why, she's there for me When it get's hard, she's all I need to get by I hear her voice in a thousand places I try so hard, still I can't escape it She's the one, when she comes, yeah And if the sky come fallin' down, I never ever even hear a sound It's true, she's as great a red as blue skies are blue Everything's all right, when she comes Everything's all tight, when she comes And when I lie she still believes She don't ask why, she's there for me When it gets hard, she's all I really need Everything's all right, when she comes It'll all be tight, when she comes When she comes It's all right, It's all right, when she comes It's all right, It's all right, when she comes It's all right, It's all right, It's all right, when she comes It's all right, It's all right, It's all right, when she comes
