Josh Groban, My Confession

I have been blind, unwilling to see The true love you're giving. I have ignored every blessing. I'm on my knees confessing

That I feel myself surrender Each time I see your face. I am staggered by your beauty, Your unassuming grace. And I feel my heart is turning, Falling into place. I can't hide Now hear my confession.

I have been wrong about you.
Thought I was strong without you.
For so long nothing could move me.
For so long nothing could change me.
Now I feel myself surrender
Each time I see your face.
I am captured by your beauty,
Your unassuming grace.
And I feel my heart is turning,
Falling into place.
I can't hide
Now hear my confession.

[Bridge:]
You are the air that I breathe.
You're the ground beneath my feet.
When did I stop believing?

Cause I feel myself surrender Each time I see your face. I am staggered by your beauty, Your unassuming grace. And I feel my heart Falling into place. I can't hide Now hear my confession. I can't hide Now hear my confession. Hear my confession