

June, I've Got The Time If You've Got The Argument

Im just an entry that you keep to yourself.
(Better just to write it all out in your words)
To sing to yourself.
(Im just a liar) Im just a liar.
Wont you just put it under your breath
to just show off your confidence?
Its worse than you think when you feel nothing.

[Chorus:]
You cant tell me this is over. Enough is enough.
Why didnt you tell me what you had in store?
Ill tell you when its done, Ill tell you when its over.

Im just a little too tired for this. She says,
Why dont you write another line about it to sing to yourself?
But this time hold your melody out.
Ive got the time if you have the argument,
But its not hard to carry on with a lie.
She said its worse than you think when you feel nothing,
Even when you cant stop writing about it.

I know shell write less in time and I can go on with this lie.
There are some things I just wont get out of you.