

Just Off Turner, Pressure

Everybody's under pressure and everyone feels alone
Funny how a new direction can take you so far from home

Just don't feel good anymore and I'd like to stay around
But I'm laying it down I'm laying it down

Good enough is never enough when better is all that you'll take
Let em know that I'm letting go and they'll never get to see me break
I've never said it before but I like the way it sounds
So, I'm laying it down I'm laying down

Oh cuz, one more day of serving the cause
Is one more face that could've been lost in the crowd
But you see me now

One more night fanning the flame
Is one more fight - but nothing to gain but a crowd
Why do you scream so loud?

Everybody's under pressure and everyone feels alone
Funny how a new direction can take you so far from home

It just don't feel good anymore and I'd like to stay around
But I'm laying it down I'm laying it down

Because one more day of serving the cause
Is one more face that could've been lost in the crowd
But you see me now

And one more night fanning the flame
Is one more fight - but nothing to gain but a crowd
Why do you scream so loud?