

Kamelot, Across The Highlands

I've been witness to so many wars that I'm blind to affliction no ability left to remorse it's my faith and conviction wide awake
in this world
full of hate
I unfurl
but I am damned
if life itself is condemnation
I am immortal
thus my freedom is captivity flying all across the highlands searching for a way to finalize my history rising high above the mountains reaching for the sky closer to my sanctuary all my life I've been trying to die reach complete segregation I am ready to open my eyes to a new revelation lost in time
there's no place for my soul
in his embrace for I am damned
if life itself is condemnation
I am immortal
thus my freedom is captivity
bound to live eternally