Kasia Lins, Ain't Gonna Wait

When I look when I look in your eyes, I see I see only lies What else what else have you got to say I know I know that's not your way

Something came up and you crossed me off your schedule Something went wrong and you stoped writing all your letters Something must have happend that you gone without saying goodbye Something deep inside says that you lost your faith now