Kataklysm, The Tragedy I Preach

The tragedy I preach Is every thing you see and everything you breath.

Make way...for all the dreams that can be held Make way...for all minds that can be fed There's a cost for serenity, there's a cost to live freely This stress is endless bring down the careless!!

It's coming down...it's coming down

It's a tragedy when we fail to see It's a tragedy all the things we feel It's a tragedy when we fail to see It's a tragedy everything that's real

Master the mind. Master the earth's swine Forever invoke what makes you right and dissolve What makes you blind

Step back from the enemy within Step back from that endless grin There's a cost for serenity, there's a cost to live freely This stress is endless bring down the careless!!

It's coming down...It's coming down

It's a tragedy when we fail to see It's a tragedy all the things we feel It's a tragedy when we fail to see It's a tragedy everything that's real

Master the mind. Master the earth's swine Forever invoke what makes you right and dissolve What makes you blind
