Katie Melua, Little Angels

When the only words heard spoken Is " Babies, where are you? & quot; And the only word heard screaming Is " Why?" Through the cold, cold wind comes a frosty mist Of unknown innocence kissed And everything is nothing 'Til it's far away Oh, little angels You've got to hold each other tight The cold hands of justice This feeling of dark chill tonight Oh, little angels You've got to hold each other tight The cold hands of justice This feeling of dark chill tonight Where are you? Are you dodging sunbeams? On adventures, chasing your dreams? Where are you? Mama's losing sleep Where are you? Are you floating in a bubble? Float back, because you're not in trouble Lay your little heads Down on some peaceful ground Oh, little angels You've got to hold each other tight The cold hands of justice This feeling of dark chill tonight Oh, little angels You've got to hold each other tight The cold hands of justice This feeling of dark chill tonight Where are you? Are you dodging sunbeams? On adventures, chasing your dreams? Where are you? Mama's losing sleep Where are you? Are you floating in a bubble? Float back, because you're not in trouble Lay your little heads Down on some peaceful ground Lay your Ittle heads Down on some peaceful ground