

Katie Melua, Perfect World

You're precious
I can't stand seeing you cry
It hurts
Watching you get what you don't deserve
I tell myself:
"You don't belong in this rough life
You should have a perfect world
You should have a perfect world"

You're too gentle
And much too quick to forgive
Every slight
And blow you've ever been dealt
Well, who knows?
If the world will ever deserve you
You should have a perfect world
You should have a perfect world

Well, who knows?
If the world will ever deserve you
You should have a perfect world
You should have a perfect world